

To Whom it May Concern,

We recently launched OnExam, a clinical skills app that is written and edited by Northern Ontario School of Medicine (NOSM) students and graduates. We are sponsored by the NOSM Student Society and Canadian Federation of Medical Students. This valuable resource is meant to be a reference guide for medical students on clinical rotations in order to aid with eliciting patient histories and performing physical exams.

The OnExam app can be downloaded on your apple and/or android device. One can also visit the website at www.OnExam.ca. As the Co-Editors-in-Chief for OnExam Version 2.0, we are looking to recruit Physician Faculty Advisors to support the medical app. The responsibilities for faculty advisors would include:

- 1) Support and approve of information in a chapter related to your field of medicine.
- 2) Exercise the option to review the student edited chapter section and advise any changes to the information.
- 3) Approve of your name appearing under the Faculty Advisor section of the OnExam Version 2.0 app.

We would like to recruit you to become a Faculty Advisor for the _____ Chapter of NOSM's very own app, OnExam.

Faculty Advisor Name: _____

Faculty Advisor Signature: _____

Date: _____

Supporting
Organizations:

By signing this form, you acknowledge the above responsibilities and will give appropriate notification if you no longer wish to be a Faculty Advisor.

Thank you for your consideration of becoming a Faculty Advisor. This signed form can be returned to eic@onexam.ca. Feel free to contact us here for more information or for other chapter interests.

Sincerely yours,

OnExam Co-Editors-in-Chief
Jonathan Ramkumar MS3
Kaitlin Vanderbeck MS2